FORENSIC PSYCHIATRY

My career in Forensic Psychiatry from 1988 has entailed regular assessments and management of risks, because of the type of cases for which I have clinical responsibility.

MEDICO-LEGAL EXPERIENCE

My medico-legal work experience dates back to 1987 as a trainee. Since my appointment as a Consultant in 1993, I have prepared numerous reports for :

Employment Tribunals: Cases of possible wrongful dismissal/litigation against the employer, both in industry and the professions;

Criminal: Courts, defence and prosecution/plaintiff/claimant, in criminal and civil cases.

Civil: These have included compensation cases, clinical negligence, personal injury, assessing the psychological impact.

Capacity: Capacity and fitness to plead

Family Proceedings: Family proceedings, including the Court of Appeal. I have assessed parents either individually or as couples for child care cases, addressing issues of risks, in particular, dealing with non-accidental injury cases and risk assessment of parents.

Volume of cases: At least 60 per year; majority joint instructions.

Expertise: My cases have involved diagnoses of various types of mental illness and personality disorder, including Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), issues concerning the use of illicit drugs and alcohol, and serious violent offences. In child care cases, I have regularly addressed the consequent impact of these on parenting and the effects on children, including the capacity of parents to respond to treatment. This has involved liaising with other experts on several occasions.

OTHER LANGUAGES SPOKEN: Yoruba
